

Nakhon Phanom University Announcement
Subject: No Gift Policy for Fiscal Year 2025

Nakhon Phanom University, as an institution of higher education, is committed to good governance to enhance integrity and transparency in its administrative operations for the benefit of the nation and its people. In alignment with these principles, the university hereby declares its intent to carry out its duties in strict compliance with the principles of good governance, applicable laws, regulations, and official announcements.

The university's executives and staff pledge to perform their duties with honesty, transparency, and accountability, fully adhering to ethical principles. In this regard, the university declares itself as an organization where all executives and staff are committed to rejecting any form of gifts or gratuities related to the performance of their duties, whether before, during, or after their official actions. This commitment is intended to prevent corruption and misconduct, both now and in the future.

Furthermore, the university will steadfastly oppose all forms of corruption, striving to foster a culture of honesty and to strengthen an ethical and transparent organizational culture that is robust and sustainable.

This announcement is made for the information and compliance of all concerned.
